News in Brief

Last Of The Crystals

Since the Scole group are currently taking a break from group sessions, it is no longer possible for us to energise the group work crystal clusters and single crystals for healing, meditational work, or for use as "Compass Crystals" which we have now sold for some considerable time.

Consequently, our current stock - which is now quite small - will be the only crystals available from the foundation in the foreseeable future. These specially energised crystals have proved extremely popular with bulletin subscribers and those who have attended our seminars in the past, so this will be your last opportunity to buy one.

Many of you who have used the single crystals for healing purposes in the past have reported positive and amazing results from their use.

The sets of 4 'Compass Crystals' have been very helpful in establishing phenomena within other experimental groups but we now only have a very few left.

The limited number of energised crystal clusters that we do have left are generally smaller than our previous standard sizes, and it would therefore be advisable, if you want one, to ring us first on the foundation number to check the sizes and availability before ordering.

German Translation

Just before our german language edition of the bulletin - volume 2 No. 3 was published, we needed to make new arrangements for its translation into german.

Thinking that it would be the easiest way of doing it, we then bought a computer translation programme and used it to translate volume 2 Nos. 3 and 4 into the german language. We employed an english lady who teaches german in an english school to check the results and to correct the text, but, I regret to say, she didn't do her job very well!!

We had many comments that the german edition was full of silly mistakes, and that - in lots of cases - it was almost impossible to understand the articles! For that we must apologise.

From volume 2, No. 5, the translation has now been undertaken by Heidi Rohrer in Switzerland, who is doing a wonderful job for us.

For german readers, therefore, the problem has now been rectified, and we would therefore like to thank Heidi enormously for stepping into the breach when we most needed her!

Contact Page Success

In the last issue of the Spiritual Scientist Bulletin, we introduced our 'contact page' for those of you who wanted to join or start an energy-based experimental group, or to just correspond with others of like mind for research purposes.

We also suggested that it would be a useful notice board for groups who were looking for new members. It seems that a number of those people who included their details have received encouraging replies, so the page is doing its job!

I would like to remind readers that the facility is still there, and that, in order for them to receive the fullest benefit from the contact page, they should send their details (as they wish them to appear in the bulletin) at the earliest opportunity.

We will include details in two consecutive issues of the bulletin unless we hear from you otherwise.

Subscription Reminders

Some of you are contacting us from time to time to ask if your annual subscription to the Spiritual Scientist is due. Please note that we always send out a reminder with a special renewal form in the last bulletin covered by your subscription.

We would appreciate a prompt response to this first reminder, as it saves us the added cost of having to send out a further and final reminder at a later date.

For those of you who would like any back numbers of the bulletin, we have most of them available at £1 per copy including postage in the U.K., and £2 per copy by airmail for overseas subscribers.

SOJOURN IN INDIA

Now that the Scole group are having a welcome break from their rigorous schedule of experimental sessions, group members have enjoyed the opportunity to indulge some of their long held ambitions.

Diana, one of the four members of the Scole group, was able to travel to India - which is a journey that she has always wanted to make.

There she found much poverty but, nevertheless, much spirituality. You can read about her travels inside - in her interesting article.

The Scole Experimental Group

Currently Taking A Break

Of late, there have been a number of rumours circulating to the effect that the Scole Experimental Group has ceased to exist. The more outrageous of these rumours indeed suggest that the New Spiritual Science Foundation itself has 'folded' - and is therefore no longer operational. Like a game of 'chinese whispers', it seems that a few simple facts have been amplified and exaggerated every time that they have been passed on, so that the final result is that the truth of the situation has been lost along the way.

I would therefore like to put all of you - our subscribers - in the picture so that you are once and for all in possession of the real facts of the case.

Firstly, it is important to stress that the Scole group is totally separate from the New Spiritual Science Foundation. The foundation was set up as an umbrella organisation to help and represent the very large number of other scientifically-minded groups throughout the world who are now experimenting themselves with energy-based psychic phenomena of similar type to that pioneered by the Scole group in the past.

Whatever conditions might - or might not - affect the Scole group's sessions and results, nothing will alter or change the status of the New Spiritual Science Foundation in any way. The foundation is permanent, and will continue in its very useful and helpful role well into the new millennium. On January 1st next year, it will simply be known as the Spiritual Science Foundation, as decreed by our spirit team when we were originally requested to form the foundation to help others.

The foundation is not just another name for the Scole group as such, and the Scole group is not the be-all and end-all of the foundation. The Scole experimental group is simply one of the groups which is operating under the guidelines of the foundation. Many other groups now exist that are getting their own excellent results.

However, as some of you may already know, in the last quarter of 1998, we (as the Scole Experimental Group) started to experience a considerable amount of interference during our experimental sessions. This took the form of very loud and high-pitched signals being emitted through the TDC device. These were extremely disruptive to the sessions, and it became impossible for the two mediums in the Scole group to sustain their trance states whilst the interference was present.

The source of this interference was at that time unknown, and was for some time the subject of much concern and discussion amongst group members. We now know that the interference was, in fact, an interdimensional time wave pattern that was coming from the future in our own world, and was being generated by a crystalline time probe. Because it was present, it would continue to cause problems for us, even when we could not hear it.

We discovered that this disruptive interdimensional time wave pattern was the result of a group of experimenters in the future (who were among the first to attempt such experiments) trying to explore time patterns and access our present time.

By attempting to access the present, these experimenters were causing time ripples, or shock waves - that literally severed our own special links with our spirit team at Scole, so that we were no longer able to have any contact at all with members of the Scole spirit team.

We gradually became fully informed regarding the adverse situation that had thus arisen as a result of this interference from the future and it is now important for us to pass on all the relevant information to those of you who have supported us and have been involved in our work as the Scole Experimental Group over a long period of time. Consequently, we feel that at this time, we must be totally honest with our friends and bulletin subscribers, although it is extremely painful for us to report the exact nature of subsequent events.

It was explained to us that the result of the four group members' special energies coming together, together with the advanced pioneering experimental work we were doing, was that our interaction with other dimensions caused a doorway to be created in time and space during our sessions. One result of this was that it enabled the work to move forward rapidly, thus allowing a number of spiritual energies to come to the world at this time in order to help raise man's spiritual consciousness.

However, the vortex of energies within this doorway also attracted experimenters from the future, who were (are or will be?) drawn to what we were doing. It was the interaction between their experiments and the doorway which caused serious interference with our work. As a result of this, the team found it increasingly more difficult to communicate with us during our sessions.

During a last brief communication with us, Manu - a member of our Scole spirit team - suggested linking us with personalities from another dimension, who, with their expert knowledge of time and space, were in a better position to assess the situation, and to possibly help. Manu referred to these as our 'Stellar Friends', and indicated to us that these new communicators could be fully trusted. We were asked to link the TDC device into the videocamera, so that the camera would record both sound and vision in tandem for what proved to be the last four sessions of that series.

After several quite amazing and ever-changing combined visual and vocal communications which came from a knowledgeable being (who called himself 'Varrenheeric') within this other dimension, it became apparent that the difficulties could not in fact be overcome at all. Varrenheeric told us that we could make no changes that would stop the interference from happening. Every time we four came together and tried to re-establish our links with our spirit team at Scole, the future time experimenters would try to make their own links with our time.

It was repeated that our links with our own spirit team at Scole were lost - and we would no longer be able to communicate with them, either through our group mediums, or directly through other channels. Varrenheeric went on to say; "We must tell you that all the work at Scole was very important. The links that were made have already enabled inter-dimensional energies and wisdom to assist in the changes to future earth consciousness".

We were told that since the probing of time which caused the interference was a violation of the cosmic and inter-dimensional laws of time and space, it must not be allowed to continue. We expected that this would be achieved by the dimensions who were co-operating with us but we were to be disappointed in this belief, and it then emerged that the only practical option was for them to ask us to co-operate, by no longer continuing with our sessions.

This of course was at first unthinkable, but after much debate, and in view of what was happening, we realised that there was no other option but to comply.

We have known our 'team' for a number of years and have worked with confidence under their loving guidance - therefore we knew that all other possibilities must have been tried and failed before this request was made of us. Those of you more closely involved with our work at Scole will appreciate how devastating this is to us, as individuals as well as a group. Our friends are sadly missed and the loss to us will never be replaced.

As it is only when our four energies are reaching out in spiritual communion, that this interference from our future takes place (thus creating a situation that may have unknown consequences), all of our experimental sessions have now ceased as requested.

Although the communication links with our 'team' no longer exist, we do feel that we must continue with our efforts to bring the 'message' of our spirit team to the attention of the masses. We therefore regard this as an opportunity to go forwards, even though, our work cannot take the form of sessions as before.

We have it in mind to continue our experimentation in alternative ways, and we are already - at this time - now experimenting with computers and tape recorders in each of our homes which we hope will yield results in the near future. Other forms of scientifically-orientated psychic experiments will also be considered soon.

It is very important for me to stress here that what has happened to the Scole group will not happen to other energy-based experimental groups. It is still totally safe for other groups to continue their experimental sessions and proceed with their group work and development.

Our situation has been quite unique in that the work at Scole has very much been of a pioneering nature, and our spirit team have constantly pushed the work ahead quickly to a very advanced degree, transcending constantly the boundaries of psychic experimentation that have previously been set, established and recognised. It is the very advanced nature of some of our more recent experiments - with the spirit team working with the unknown - that has caused these problems we have experienced.

So - although the Scole group are currently not sitting in the format that has been so familiar to us for some six years, the four of us in the group are still together, and we continue to maintain all of our former harmony. We have not given up hope of one day resuming our sessions with a renewed vigour. When the time is right, I am sure that some of the members of our spirit team will find a way of contacting us again!

The fantastic results which have been achieved in the Scole cellar in the past are destined to go down in psychic history, as there are indeed a number of projects in hand at this point in time to publicise our past work in many and varied ways.

This difficult decision which we had to take will - we know - have many repercussions, amongst those of you who were working with us on ongoing experiments and projects. Needless to say, as far as is humanly possible we will, of course, co-operate and help regarding the completion of these projects as much as we can.

From now on, we intend to continue our efforts in helping other groups to develop phenomena which is similar to our past results. The foundation will soldier on, as was always intended!

We will still be in a position to run the occasional seminar and workshop if enough subscribers are interested to view in detail what we actually achieved during those six years and 500 experimental sessions! We will also be available for lectures.

In the meantime, however, we will continue to enjoy our well-earned break! The Scole group are currently - to use the theatrical expression - at liberty! ■

A HEALING Photograph

An interesting story from Peter Kingsley-Duncan working for the International Children's Medical Aid

Peter is the aid convoy leader, taking aid to the mothers and children in Croatia and Bosnia. This time he found people trying to survive in sub-zero conditions, without food, heating, or medication. Most of the refugees are women and children who have lost their men-folk through the war.

On these aid missions his convoy distributes many tons of food, toiletries, medicines and toys. He goes to orphanages, refugee camps and children's hospitals, but sadly he finds many of the conditions worse, each time he visits. It was on a recent convoy (65th.) yes! 65th. that he experienced this incredible phenomena.

Here is his story:

On our December 1998 Aid-convoy to Croatia we visited our old friends at the Zagreb Sathya Sai Centre. This centre is dedicated to Sai Baba,, a spiritual leader whom many believe to be an avatar. Whilst there, Ljubica who runs the Sai group, knowing that I have Leukaemia and was also suffering from a chest infection due to cold, (it was 20 degrees below zero with heavy snow), took me into Shrine-room and sat me in front of Swami's chair.

Ljubica then left the room and returned carrying an Orange Robe, which she explained had been given to her son at an interview with Sai Baba. This was an actual robe that Swami had worn. The one on the chair (photograph) being a robe that he had blessed, but not worn. Ljubica then lay the robe over me and left the room.

With me were some Sai-friends from our group and wishing to share the 'Blessing of being able to touch Beloved Swami's Robe', I laid it over each of them and took their photographs as they had mine.

The Shrine-room was beautiful with the walls covered with pictures of Swami, Krishna, Jesus, St Francis, Madonna, etc, etc, and as I sat there, very tired, ill, and exhausted, a great peace came over me. I've been a hard man in my life, I've had to be, because nothing is ever achieved by weakness, but I've always tried to be fair.

As I sat there the tears ran down my cheeks not only for my own suffering but also for 'All those in Distress'. 'ALL LIFE', Yes, I wept.

The greatest surprise was when I had the films developed back in the UK, for on many of the photographs are 'Beloved Swami's Feet' I shouldn't be surprised having seen so much of 'His Grace', but I always am.

Om Ja Sai Ram, Love, Love, "Ever LOVE".

Swami's feet had materialised between his chair, and myself, also his robe on the chair, which had been lying flat had filled-out, this can be particularly seen (heading photo.) around the neck and chest areas. I was told that this photograph was a "blessing and healing to help all" and must be made available to anyone who wishes to have a copy.

Spirit Cousins from other Dimensions

Denzil Fairbairn writes . . . . .

When I first heard about your claims to have had contact with 'other world' beings, who for all intent and purpose resemble the stereotypical perspective of the Greys, often described by those claiming to have been abducted by aliens and subsequently operated or experimented on, I must confess that I didn't look upon it with an open mind. I looked upon it in the same way as many people look upon Spiritualism, with a dismissive and skeptical view because it seems so incomprehensible.

Since then various discussions, debates and questioning has led me to open up my own thoughts on the subject and to consider the logical aspect of why so many people have come forward, regardless of the ridicule which may befall them, to make these statements concerning their experiences. Thereby lays the answer, which is the same for Spiritualism, it is a personal experience and once experienced nobody can take it away from you.

Well that moment came for me and a group of friends, around the middle of September last year. We were sitting, in circle, with a deep trance medium, whom we had the privilege of sitting with earlier in the year and whose work was so impressive that we decided to ask him back for a further sitting which took place on Saturday 19th September. Going by the philosophy given and the answers received to questions asked, we were happy to conclude that the speaker was well evolved and that the information provided by him was acceptable as factual.

On this occasion one of the sitters asked the speaker whether he would enlighten us to the subject of so-called aliens and why there were so many reports yet no real hard evidence to back it up. The answer he gave is, word for word, as follows:

"This cosmos and when I use this word cosmos I include all dimensions in the physical and spiritual worlds, this is but one thread within the greater picture. Many threads exist alongside this one and as the different universes ebb and flow, and expand and contract, there are times when they come together and blend. This cosmos, at the highest level, has reached the point where it can expand no further without blending with another strand of reality, and for the seed to be set it must be set within the physical dimension.

So, these 'cousins of spirit', from this other place, are being allowed into this physical dimension. They are allowing their spiritual seed to be sown in the consciousness of mankind. For there will come a time, if they do not intervene, when the human-race will become sterile. It is needed for this genetic material to be brought in from this other dimension to strengthen and to maintain the threads of mankind's DNA.

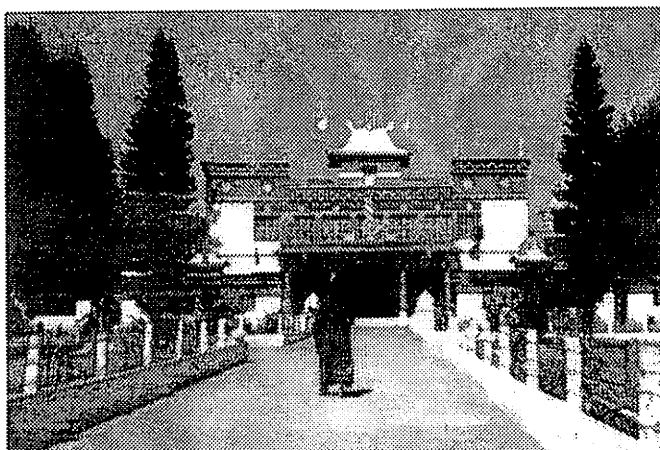

Your scientists record that the numbers of sperm-count is falling, due to the chemicals that you have placed within your food chains. These chemicals within the meat that you consume are handed from generation to generation but this counter measure will strengthen your genes against this deterioration. It will coincide with the natural progression of the human-race towards mental abilities, telekinesis, and telepathy these will be the natural aspects of future generations.

These beings also have taken samples of all living matter within this plane. For they have technology far beyond that within the physical and are able to reproduce copies of cells so that if mankind is extinguished on the face of the Earth, they will be able to recreate an environment where the race and breeding stock can be prepared once more... This is a gloomy picture, which we paint for you, but this is the worst case scenario.

It is hoped that this will not have to happen but we prepare and many from the 'High Council', the 'White Brotherhood', work with these beings, for the one you term the 'Nazarene', the 'Christ Consciousness' has allowed this blending to take place. For since this cosmos was but a mere spark of consciousness, before any dimensions had formed, it was not envisaged that it would blend with another strand but all things must progress, all things must go on to recreate themselves both spiritually, cosmically and physically".

At this point the subject matter was turned to something else but I felt that I would like to share this information with you because it seems such a logical answer to so many unanswered questions. I can also confirm that the picture captured on video and shown on the front cover of June's Spiritual Scientist was recognised by the same medium as being similar to a being that had visited him a couple of years ago. I look forward to the next issue of your magazine, keep up the good work. ■

Exiled in INDIA

A moving report about the TIBETAN monks who have been driven from their lands.

May freedom come by peaceful means without destruction of the enemy

This January, I was given the opportunity to travel to Southern India. My travelling companions were three women who like myself were involved in spiritual work. All of us were aware our lives and our work were changing and that our own lives were mirroring the changes going on throughout the world. A new emerging planetary consciousness.

India had a flourishing civilisation long before our own and still has many ancient sites and ruined temples. We found the Indian people helpful and friendly and pleased we were visiting their country.

One of our group, sponsors an exiled Tibetan monk. He escaped with the Dalai Lama in 1959, when China invaded Tibet. We had arranged a short stay at the Sera Je monastery to meet him. Little did we know what a profound experience it would be.

The monastery land had been given to the refugees, as a generous gift by the Karnataka state in Southern India. Gradually, after the first very difficult years, when many died, settlements were established, schools and monasteries.

We journeyed to Mysore and were met by two monks, Geshe Lobsang, the monk we had arranged to visit and a young monk named Jamyang who spoke English very well. Geshe Lobsang could not speak a word of English but his face spoke volumes. Years of hardship, inner strength and serenity.

After a three-hour taxi ride avoiding potholes, cows and goats along the road, we arrived at Sera Je Monastery, passing the schools and settlements. Single storey cottages along unpaved streets like medieval villages. As the Tibetans are keen on education, the schools operate six full days a week. None of the schools have much equipment but Sera Je does have a little science equipment, given by German friends.

We were made very welcome on our arrival and given food and accommodation. The Tibetans live very simply with few possessions. Food is very basic. Rice, lentil Dhal, thin soup with noodles, Tibetan tea and tough bread. After blessing their food, it is eaten carefully and in silence to absorb the energy properly. Unaccustomed to eating in total silence, we would sometimes forget and ask a question. The monk would finish his mouthful and then patiently answer us.

Adult monks start their day at 4.30 a.m. and seldom finish before midnight. Apart from Puja ceremonies in the Prayer Halls, their days consist of prayer, teaching by their tutors, memorisation of texts for detailed study and debates on the content and their understanding of the days teaching.

We were fortunate to be invited to a Geshe ceremony. It can take a monk up to 20 years to reach Geshe status. As we sat in a balcony high above the Prayer Hall, the monks, about 3,500 of them, chanted the scriptures. The sound was tremendous and seemed to lift our consciousness to a deep meditative level. It was if a feeling of blissfulness enveloped us. I was reminded of the teachings through our own group, with regard to the energy of sound and the power it can have to create, heal and uplift.

Some monks were newly arrived from Tibet and had only been in India a short while. Two brothers, aged 14 and 15 had made the journey and told us their story. It had taken 9 days from their home to Lhasa, travelling in the back of a truck. They found a guide to take them across the Himalayas. This trek took them a month, walking by night and hiding and sleeping by day. There were many dangers. It would have been easy to slip and fall or get mountain sickness, which causes dizziness.

Chinese guards caught them and used them as human footballs and martial arts practice, kicking and beating them. However they finally let them through. By the time they reached India they had sold all their clothes, except for their vest and pants, to buy food. They were beaten, tired and hungry.

By the time I saw them they had started to recover from their ordeal. They were living with their uncle, a monk at Sera Je. A sponsorship scheme exists, for as little as £5 per month. I decided to befriend these two boys and become their sponsor. Another young monk aged 18 had also made the hazardous journey. His story touched us all. At his first attempt to escape he had been captured and imprisoned for a year, during which time he was given electrical torture. This damaged his liver and he was hospitalised for 3 months. When he was released he tried to escape again. The guards caught him again, but after a beating allowed him to pass. He showed us some of the scars of his ordeal. My friends sponsored this monk and another delightful teacher.

Tulku Ngawang
Gyaltso

Holy water and special seeds. Each of us were lightly tapped on the head with the scriptures, which were printed on strips of paper.

Then we approached him in turn and were given a Trungra (a woven tassel) which had been blessed by His Holiness the Dalai Lama. This would protect us and remove obstacles on our spiritual path. The energy within the room turned to gold and as the ceremony ended, each of us wept. We all felt we had taken part in something of a very high order.

One of the highlights of our visit was an audience with High Lama Rimpoche Tulku Ngawang Gyaltso, who is also the Oracle of the monastery. This delightful old man performed a blessing and healing ceremony using

We thanked him and told him we would pray for the Tibetan people, that one-day they might be free. He replied (through the interpreter) "Pray also for the Chinese, all people should know joy in their lives". It was much later we learned that this gentle soul had been imprisoned by the Chinese authorities for 21 years, several of these, with his feet tied and his hands tied behind his back.

There is an Oracle at Dharamsala in Northern India. This is the home of His Holiness the Dalai Lama, when he is not travelling the world, giving talks and raising awareness of Tibetan culture.

During a religious festival, the Oracle was performing a ceremony, when a strange phenomenon occurred. Seeds of wheat in a large bowl suddenly exploded out with the energy. These specially energised seeds were collected and distributed among the monks. Such was the generosity of these people, they shared some with us to take home.

At present the Dalai Lama spends his days sharing his message of love, compassion and forgiveness with the world. Surely a message for us all.

Report from Evelyn Delahaye

I want to thank you and the spirit team not just for a night to remember, but one I shall never forget. I cannot find words to express my feelings of excitement, wonderment and humbleness, it was like all emotions in a big pot bubbling over into a great well of love.

The wisdom and advice from Manu, given in his gentle manner, the banter with Patrick, Reg's voice coming 'out of the blue' up in the ceiling somewhere. Emily's great help and advice, in her understanding manner. But, let me try to start from the beginning and recall that wonderful night.

After we had descended the stairs, we settled down in our chairs. Robin opened with a prayer and then the Rainbow exercise with the music in the background. This time over, we began to chat amongst ourselves, and after a little while Manu burst forth with a loud and cheery "Good evening to you all"

He spoke to us about energy, but mostly about the power of love that is coming to the world in this special way through energy to awaken mankind and bring that spiritual perspective into the ordinary lives of the many. It is this spirituality which has to be brought into the everyday existence, so that love becomes a word that has meaning behind it. He spoke of the need for other groups to work with this new energy, the spirals of energy that are throughout the world. He said we must link into the grid of energy that is encircling the world.

Manu then went on to speak to me about my own work and hoped I would take something from Scole, back to Australia and become a beacon of light for those that are seeking the truth.

Then Patrick came through to wish us Good evening with his cheery banter.

Robin heard a noise. Someone making themselves heard. Sandra invited them to join us. Emily quipped "Oh thank you, I thought you would never ask". Friendly chatter between us all went on all evening. A few coloured lights were appearing at various spots, flashes of light and some luminosity.

The table wobbled and there was a whisper near to me, but I could not hear what was said. The table wobbled a few more times.

Then if I may dare to say so, the highlight of the evening. I was being touched so gently and lovingly on the head by a solid spirit being. Emily said they were trying to help with a little healing, as I could feel a lovely warm glow. Emily explained that healing is a very important aspect of the work. I was now being touched and stroked on the left arm, with a wonderful feeling of love. It seemed as though the whole place was enveloped in this feeling of love that was coming from all our spirit friends. As soon as they touch you it can only be described as 'a loving touch' Emily said they would not be allowed there otherwise, they are the very nicest of spirit people.

Patrick was joking that someone had just touched him. The table wobbled again, and a few more times longer and louder and we heard a deep voice up in the ceiling. As the voice became clearer we heard the voice say "Singing and dancing" - that was Reg. A few more table wobbles and from the ceiling "I want to speak to Evelyn". I said I was right here, what did you want to say to me. "Bless you Evelyn bless you for all you are doing" I thanked him, said it was a pleasure and I love the work. Reg spoke about my group in Australia, and it would appear they have a peep in now and again. Emily apparently has a reputation for trotting around the various groups for a look-see.

I was then given some private and personal messages and advice.

I was then touched again on my left arm, the delicate hand stroking my arm down to my fingers. It felt my fingers one by one and the rings on my hand then raised my arm up over my head. The great well of love I felt from this solid spirit being I shall never forget.

Emily said it was something the team wanted to give me for the energy that I have expended on their behalf. I thank the Scole team of both worlds for this gesture. I will do my very best to spread the light around to all those who come and seek, as Emily hoped I would. From this experience I feel so much closer to our spirit friends. They are forever near me, no less than physical ones.

One cannot deny that which is seen by the eyes, heard by the ears, and felt by the body. I have witnessed the most amazing direct voice that came from thin air as it were up in the ceiling. Not one voice but two, even though the second one was faint, but these two voices were talking to each other. All of this was by the new energy base phenomena, and no medium was used. The two mediums were being used by two other communicators whilst this was all going on. The loving touches of the solid spirit beings will remain with me forever. They were not light touches, but unmistakably the touch of solid hands, and not for a split second, but five minutes or more each time stroking my arms and squeezing my hand like any physical squeeze.

The Scole group of four, have provided the right conditions and environment for this amazing phenomena, their spirit team have done the rest. They all need to be congratulated for this work, which as Manu says, is to bring to mankind the awakening of spirituality, to bring peace and healing to the world and proof of survival through this phenomena.

The spirit world needs more groups to do this work, to link in with others on this grid of energy that is encircling the world. This is my first visit to Scole, to be with the Scole group, and to meet the Scole spirit team. I wish in many ways that I lived closer, but I am so proud to be a little part of it, as the contact in Australia and New Zealand. I will do my best to spread this golden light and to be a beacon for those seeking the truth.

Here is a transcript of Manu's words, taken from that session.

Speaking to us all, he said, "The power of love that is coming to the world, in this special way, is to awaken mankind throughout your world to bring that spiritual perspective into the ordinary lives of the many. For it is this spirituality which is being lost which has to be once more brought into the everyday existence, so that love becomes a word that has meaning behind it. Love becomes the watchword of the world, so that each thought, each action is governed by the love that comes from within each one, the spiritual aspect that belongs to you all."

"As you sit here, these loving energies are embracing you all. We create a great circle of light for you all to be a part of, and this beautiful spiral of energy, which exists at the very centre. Then we know of your energies as you are knowing of ours. I hope that your lady guest will take something from this place which will remain within her heart and mind, that she may return in the fullness of time to her own land and thus become a beacon of light for those that are attracted to her."

Then he said to Evelyn, "I have touched your vibration before, but you have not been within this place and so I wish to assimilate your own energy. It is a good energy so we may become as one. It is like a beautiful flower unfolding as we are speaking, reaching out for that spiritual sun above and responding to the rays of love, that is how it is perceived by myself."

"Where you live is a good area for energy. It is a good place of energy, much power, much energy to be brought to make you more mindful of the earth energy. It is the blend of energy of the earth and of the people and of the spirit. So it is good to remember your part as an individual, you are most aware of spirit energy that maybe you did not consider much the earth energy it has to be a blend of all three."

Then, speaking to us all again, he said, "Now there are spirals of energy throughout the world and we are networking them together. You also may be linked into what we like to call the web of energy, the grid of energy, that is encircling the world to bring healing and peace and spirituality to mankind, for there is much need and much awakening within people. For each of you are placed in your own space upon this grid of light, this golden light that is going throughout the lands."

"You will find that there is much energy where you are and you will add to that energy, so it will empower your own group work. You will also be able to empower the energy around you, this will add to the whole of the grid work of energy. We are using this to transmit energies of healing and peace at the ending of these sessions. These energies, will help all those that work in the light throughout the world at this time, to be linked together to make this wonderful network of love, that we may bring others much change, much transmutation of the existence and the experience of man."

"Remember whatever takes place tonight is done in the name of love, and please to tell others if their actions and thoughts are based on love then they too will add to the loving energies throughout the world and the world consciousness." ❧

Letter from Carol Thackray in Australia

Hello - from Australia. I wrote to you almost a year ago to obtain a crystal for my daughter Sarah, who was in hospital suffering from Crohn's Disease. Sarah had a really difficult time and was in a great deal of pain.

Difficulties arose when she was allergic to most of the medications. Her condition worsened and the doctors said that her only option was the removal of her bowel.

This seemed radical for her - she was only 24 years old. I wrote to the Foundation and asked you to put her name on your healing list, and to send me a crystal.

When I took the crystal to Sarah in hospital, she was very sick, and looked just awful, hooked up to so many machines.

The next day, when I went to visit her, she was sitting up in bed; the machines were gone, and her blood tests showed a marked improvement - Nothing short of a Miracle!

After about a further six months, she went into complete remission, and is now leading a full and healthy life. We are so grateful for your help and healing. Thank you so very much! ❧

Could this be a photograph of

JESUS with his disciples?

Has this paranormal image captured a moment in time?

This photograph and the story behind it was passed on to us by Arthur Cayton. We thought our readers would find it so interesting, as it involves both psychic imagery and the interesting concepts of time.

atives were all in colour except for this single black and white image, showing the path. This appeared to be a photograph of Jesus with some of his disciples. Mind boggling? Yes, and yet heart stirring too.

to ignore!

My own feeling is that the explanation is at the same time much simpler and more difficult for us time-conscious mortals to accept. Some centuries before Christ was ever born, Plato had realised that time was not what it seemed. He called it "A moving image of eternity". Sai Baba says the same thing, "Both past and future are contained in the same present" When questioned, he explained a little more fully, He said,

"God is omnipresent, that is, He is ever present. This moment is God. There is only God. Truth is the same in the past, in the present and it will remain the same in the future. Therefore, the time sequence of past, present and future, is imagination."

Wanting to see the Holy Land and walk where Jesus had walked, a Spaniard living in Brazil went to Israel. He was near Jerusalem's famous Walling Wall, when the guide directed him to a nearby path, saying that Jesus would have often walked that path with his disciples.

He had a colour film in his camera and so took a photograph of this path. Upon returning home, he had the film developed. The sets of neg-

How can such things happen? I don't propose to explain. I have been given though, a pseudo scientific explanation, in which it is surmised that the deep faith of the man taking this photograph would have triggered vibrations held in the Akashic records linked to the spot where the event took place, well maybe! But I wonder if any such far-fetched explanation is necessary. After all, miracles do happen, a fact that any follower of Sai Baba would be hard

Seen from this angle, the two thousand years that separate us from the casual moment recorded on the photograph just drop away.

God, by whatever name we know him, is quite capable of either giving us a vision of a person or producing an image for us to see, if that is our hearts desire. What we are shown can be of an actual event that still lives in the eternal present. ■

News From David and Patricia Hayes in Australia

The Sandy Beach Experimental Energy Group

Whilst we are still waiting to receive sustained physical phenomena of the scale that Scole does through energy, we are happy to sit weekly in our group and enjoy love, fun and friendship with our spirit team who are in communication with us. It all started when we made two visits to the Scole Group in August and September of 1995. These proved to be very memorable events in our lives, and we became very enthusiastic to start up our own group after Mrs. Bradshaw had asked us if we would do this.

We returned home to Australia in October of 1995 and, as our existing flat would obviously be too small, we immediately started looking for a suitable house where we could dedicate one room for developing energy based physical phenomena.

In a very short space of time Spirit, we felt, guided us to a lovely home at Sandy Beach, some 25 kilometres North of Coffs Harbour. We bought the house which had a room ideal for sitting as it was away from the main living area of the home and reasonably easy to blackout, especially as the door has to be kept open, although curtained, for air circulation when the evening temperatures are in the high twenties and low thirties degrees Celsius. Our spirit team have told us that they find difficulty working with the energy at those temperatures on the earth plain.

In the room we have sitters chairs and a wooden circular table upon which we have placed the 'Dome' which itself is set upon a stand similar to the one used at Scole. The glass dome was bought from a specialist dome shop in Tonbridge, Kent, and was carried home in our cabin baggage. The White Light put around the dome during its flight in a crowded Jumbo worked well! Upon the table we have also placed four Single Terminated Quartz crystals, one at each quadrant point, plus a separate Quartz Crystal Cluster.

There is also a note pad and pencil for Spirit's use if so required. Also in the room we have a small bell and metal wind chimes. A table tennis ball and plastic tub complete the items for Spirit use if they so wish. The tape player and recorder equipment has been placed on a trolley next to the chair of the music laying and voice recording operator who also has a small light stand which we use at the end of the session for operating low powered coloured bulbs for sitters to get used to the light again, after a couple of hours in the dark.

The only unnecessary furniture in the room is a wall bookshelf, although it does carry a large collection of spiritual, psychic and healing books. We do have one painting hanging in the room. It is an original oil of a 16th century Monk writing by candlelight a prayer on parchment with a quill pen.

We currently have five sitters in our group and we are now noticing an increased level of energy after two new sitters joined us a few months ago. In the past couple of years we have had a few changes in sitters, some have found this type of circle was not for them and a couple of others have left after we requested Spirit to help us out when we knew it wasn't working out! We can confirm that Spirit is both quick and efficient when such problems arise. We never had to say a word.

All new sitters are given the Scole Guide to read together with our one page 'Notes on Sitting' which is a list of pertinent points that new sitters need to know. Our music is similar to the Scole Group, but actual tunes and songs, and the mix of them we decide between the group members. Every sitting is logged and brief details of happenings are written up, together with opening and closing temperatures.

Full details of any trance communications are kept on tapes. Since we started our group we have had much energy activity, swirling white clouds, pin pricks of white light all over the room, rather like 'The Milky Way', black shapes moving around the room, raps and cracking noises.

Sometimes we 'Push Our Luck' and ask Spirit to make that "noise" another say 3 times more during the session. They do this exactly. We feel very lucky and thank them.

Sitters have felt brushing up against their arms and legs and also prods into the body and neck. We have also experienced smells both scented and musty.

Over the past 15 months we have been getting regular communication from our Spirit team through David, who is in a light trance. They answer a variety of technical questions for us and also enter into some happy-go-lucky banter from time to time.

We find these experiences very rewarding.

We have quite a few spirit personalities in our team; there is Ogupu, who was once an African chief in MATABELELAND. He gives Spiritual guidance to us and talks more on 'the big picture'. The scientists are Philip, Michael and Olivia. Our door keeper is Gerard and almost a weekly visitor is Brian 'Spud' Murphy, an Irish farmer who really is a 'Laugh a minute'. When he starts up the energy increase with the laughter is really incredible!

There are also two ladies, both high profile during their lives on the earth, who come through and chat to us from time to time; one is Edwina, the other Diana. The latter, in addition, sometimes briefly comes into our healing session at the end, which has much interest for her.

Patricia, also through light trance has a number of children who now and again 'turn up' if the evening's quiet, especially around the nursery rhyme tune time. They like to play they say. She also receives communications from Mr Dunstan, a team adviser.

Our team have not asked us to prepare any special work yet, we have not yet had any energy voices, (such as the ones we heard at Scole on the 25.8.95.) and there has not yet been any major sustained energy based Physical Phenomena. Our team tells us "It won't be long" though.

We have a bottle of Champagne in the fridge for such an occasion! ■
